1. Applicant's response filed 3/7/06 has been considered.
2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1-5,7-14,16-18,20 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Collier 5,704,189.

Collier discloses a system and method applying a code to a cable (col 6 lines 54-56). It is disclosed that an entry is made into memory for retaining location information, including intermediate locations of the cable (col 7 lines 60-63) (col 12 lines 57-67). It is disclosed that the code is imprinted at spaced intervals on the cable (col 11 lines 55-60) and thus printing near each terminus of the cable is inherent. The code may be a bar code (col 11 lines 10-15). It is disclosed that a gun reads the code, i.e. hand held code reader (col 11 lines 62 - column 12 line 6).

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

6. Claims 6,15,19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Collier 5,704,189. Collier discloses that which is seen above. Collier does not disclose that the hand held device is wireless. Official Notice is taken that wirelessly connected hand held bar code readers are old and well known in the art. It would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to use a well known wireless bar code reader in the system of Collier. This would allow for greater mobility and use in locations remote from a host.

7. Applicant's arguments filed 3/07/06 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant argues that Collier does not teach labeling locations. The examiner respectfully disagrees. Applicant admits that a carrier is labeled and that carrier is at a location. Thus, the examiner asserts that there is labeled a location. Applicant further argues that Collier discloses labeling the carrier prior to installation and therefore would not be available to be applied to the carrier. The examiner does not disagree that Collier discloses labeling the carrier prior to installation, however, in light of the wide breadth of the current claims, the examiner asserts that Collier does in fact encompass the claimed invention. As currently claimed, there is no chronological order to the labeling of cable or location or reading thereof, merely that the cables are labeled and read and that there is a label associated with a location. Applicant further argues that there is no central processor. However, as clearly seen in the abstract, for example, records of the labels of the carriers and cables is kept in retrievable form in a storage location, i.e. A processor is inherent.

8. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
